

"Stolen Honor" is political advertising dressed up as news. Where are the government officials who should be protecting the public air waves? Equal time should be given to both sides especially the night before an important election. What happened to the rules? Were they just crushed under the weight of Big Media?

Please do the job you've been given. Thank You.

Dianne Engleke